RID CITY OF GUNMEN!—DEVER

COOLIDGE SEES U. S. DRIFTING TO FOOD SHORTAGE

Discouraged Farmer Kept in Back Seat.

Every citizen among us has a personal concern in the welfare of the farmer.

The fortunes of all of us will in the end up or down with his. If we ever permit our farming population to fall to the level of a mere agricultural peasantry they will carry down with them the general social and economic level.

The farmer is not only a producer; he is likewise a merchant. It does him no good to get quantity production—in fact, it may do him harm—unless he also can have sensible marketing.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.
(To the farmer educators last night.)

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—President Coolidge this evening made his first public appearance since the national election, and he signified the occasion by pledging his administration to thoroughgoing measures of farm relief.

His hearers were 300 farmer educators who, the President said, "are resuming agriculture from the Cinderella of the industrial family and placing it on a higher plane of scientific accuracy and permanent prosperity," and who, he assured them, represent schools owned by individuals worth more than a quarter billion dollars.

His Pledge to the Farmers.

This is the pledge the President made to the audience assembled at the Willard from every state in the Union:

"We are going to make no effort to prevent a repetition of the misfortunes which in recent years have involved agriculture. We are a third of the way toward a generation ahead of the time when our country will witness a reversal of its relation to world agriculture."

"I mean that in a very few years the natural increase of population and the inevitable tendency to industrialization will place us among the nations producing a deficit rather than a surplus of agricultural staples. We were fairly on the verge of that condition when the world war gave a temporary and artificial stimulation to agriculture which ultimately brought disastrous consequences."

Seconding "Short" on Calories.

The President then brought out a fact which, he said, was not generally known. It concerns our familiar friend of the diet sheet, the calories, and it is this:

"Even now we consume more calories of food in this country than we produce."

Consequently he wants more sugar raised.

"We do not," he said, "raise near enough sugar. Our only agricultural exports of consequence are cotton, meat, and wheat. As to the two last, it may be plain that the scales will shortly turn against us. We shall be not only an agricultural importing nation, but in the lives of many who are now among us we are likely to be one of the greatest agricultural buy nations."

Farmer's Future Secure.

"Even today, if we include our requirements in coffee, tea, sugar, and when we make up our balance sheet, we shall find that we already have a considerable agricultural surplus."

From those facts our farm-born President thought the American farmer could take heart as to his future. "It," said the speaker, "is enough. But meanwhile, the farmer must readjust his methods of production and marketing until he comes within sight of the day."

The government's immediate program in relation to the farmer has been in the President's survey of the situation to carry the farmer through the intervening period of abnormal and unstimulated surpluses.

Problems Before Nation.

"It," he continued emphatically, "we must face the real problem of the future."

He defined the problem thus:

"It is the problem of maintaining a courageous, self-reliant, confident agriculture in a country where the rural and industrial. It has been said in all experience that agriculture tends to discouragement and hence whenever the predominant assets of the country turn to manure and trade. We must prevent that in America."

He made his audience of educators, representing the six so-called land grant colleges to the federal government gave Inventor Explains Cure.

Explained by its inventor to The Tribune, Prof. Moelgaard's system is as follows: Sanocrycine is a compound solution of gold used by injection so that the gold will not act as a metallic salt. When diffused through the veins and muscles the solution, it is claimed, kills the phthisis bacilli and a second serum used as an ingredient of sanocrycine counteracts the poison set up by the presence of dead bacilli in the patient's blood. Although reactions are quite violent, bringing high fever and attending disorders, the percentage of cures is said to be large.

If begun before the lungs are destroyed by disease, the few cures are said to be successful.

Prof. Moelgaard has tried the effects of his solution on living organisms over periods of fourteen days, using injections of 800 units to 2,500 units. The serum and gold solution combined have, at the end of two weeks, effected the results sought.

ency exhibited toward old offenders by judges who continue to recognize as valid the gun-toting permits issued for a fee by country justices of the peace, the mayor was told.

When Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes accepted the invitation to attend a banquet at the Webster hotel, given two weeks ago in honor of Jerry O'Connor, president of the Theater Janitors' Union, he was told that County Clerk Robert M. Sweeney, to be toastmaster and Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, the principal speaker, Chief Collins will tell the mayor this morning.

Hughes Framed, He Says.

The mayor demanded an investigation of reports that Chief Hughes as well as half a dozen police lieutenants were participants in a demonstration for O'Banion when the latter was presented on that occasion with a diamond studded platinum watch by his admirers. O'Banion's crowd, it appears, converted the O'Connor celebration to one for their leader to the discomfiture of many who attended.

As for the other policemen, I am continuing my investigation. If it appears that they took part in any way in the celebration for O'Banion, either by contributing to it, fund to purchase the watch, or by sitting prominently through the presentation, they will be called to a strict accounting."

O'BANION QUIZ FIZZLES

So little hope of ever clearing the mystery surrounding the murder of Dean O'Banion rests now on the possibility that some one may confess some day or inadvertently drop a remark that will reveal the identity of the murderers. Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes admitted last night.

"We have run down a thousand and one clews, only to find them all worthless," he said. "The present total of our deadlocked cases is literally nothing."

The silence of organized gangland so far has proved impregnable. The more we run around the more we are convinced we are wasting our time.

"But I have hopes that some day somebody who knows is going to squeal—consciously or unconsciously. And my chief reason for hoping and even predicting this is the simple reason that so many are on that murder that it seems incredible that somebody hasn't squealed."

And when little leak comes—if it ever does—we'll speedily clear this whole thing.

May Free Portugals Today.

"You see, as I figure it, at least eleven men know who killed O'Banion and why. If the report is correct there were eight cars parked in various places in addition to the one carrying the three actual killers. Now, with so many in on a thing of that kind, it stands to reason somebody is going to drop something—intentionally or unintentionally—sooner or later."

Harry Portugals, 1356 Newberry avenue, and his 23 year old son, Jules, who were taken into custody and questioned for several hours yesterday, were released last night. Portugals owns a Ford car which closely answered the description of the machine used by O'Banion's players.

Mrs. Dean O'Banion's sedan disappeared in front of her home last night. Police were notified and Lieut. Charles Eagan of the detective bureau recovered it a half block south at Brompton avenue. The car had been locked and the thief had abandoned it.

Mrs. Harding's Condition

Reported "Not So Well"

Mrs. Marion O., Nov. 12.—The condition of Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, who is critically ill at White Oak sanitarium, was reported tonight by her physician, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, as unchanged. Her condition this morning was reported as "not so well" following a "very restless and painful night." Tonight's brief bulletin read: "Mrs. Harding's condition remains practically the same as this morning."

NOTES TO SPEAK TONIGHT.

"Chicago and Its Municipal Problems" will be the subject of an address by Mayor Dewey before the Austin High school Parent-Teacher association in the school auditorium tonight.

DEPICTS FAHY AS SLEUTH-CROOK AS TRIAL OPENS

Rondout Mail Loot May Be $3,000,000.

BY DONALD EWING.

Trial of the defendants in the "great" of all "mail robberies—the $2,000,000 Rondout, Ill., holdup—got under way yesterday. It started with a series of clashes between attorneys, testimony from low paid bank tellers and Negro clerks who casually told of handling millions of dollars. There were repeated indications of brilliant fireworks to come as the verdict is given.

WILLIAM FAHY. According to one witness, the loot was nearer $3,000,000 than $2,000,000, which has been the government estimate.

In only thirteen minutes of opening argument, John Byrne, government attorney, told the story of the robbery as the government will try to prove it. He pictured William Fahy, formal postal inspector as an arch criminal, plotting not only this robbery, but preparing for many others to come.

Jimmy Murray, white side politician, Mr. Byrne described as the go-between—the plans going from Fahy to Murray, to the four Newton brothers, Herbert Halliday, and Brent Glasscock.

Who Did the Job.

The latter six were the gunmen who pulled their gats, threw gas bombs and loaded sacks of registered mail into waiting automobiles at Rondout after stopping Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train No. 57 the night of June 12. The most carefully planned robbery in history, Mr. Byrne pictured it—sure to succeed, if Willie Newton hadn't left his post and been shot by one of his own pals.

In less than seven minutes, however, Robert Murray, former United States attorney and now Fahy's counsel, countered with a picture of Fahy as master detective rather than master criminal, actually trying to solve the Rondout robbery rather than abet it.

While the spectators still were adjusting themselves for expected long opening arguments Ben Short suddenly announced that the defense waived further opening argument, the government said it had no more to say—just then—and the first witness was sworn in.

Twelve in all testified—mostly government clerks from Washington and the mail clerks who handled sacks of mail in the robbery—for the government first had to establish to the jury that there had been a robbery. Then it sought to establish just what was stolen—and it will continue this today.

One of Accused Sleeps.

As $500,000 bond shipments were being told of, as a cleric insisted in one paroxysm of concern $1,250,000 in cold cash, though the government was trying to prove it held only $15,000, James Murray, defendant, facing possible total sentences of 100 years in prison, slept. He dozed away in a seemingly complete lack of interest.

At Murray's side, Fahy, nervous as the jury was picked, became calm and casually down notes of the testimony. Walter McComb, third defendant, sat motionless and, perhaps, emotionless. The six who confessed their guilt were not permitted in the courtroom. They are expected to testify for the government, as is Fahy for himself.

Tools of Shipping $500,000.

The first witness was H. A. O'Dwyer, treasury clerk in Washington, who told of wrapping and sealing $500,000 in Liberty bonds for the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank on June 11, 1924. It was pouch No. D-2385 with rotary lock No. 80. Every time a rotary lock is opened, he explains it registers, so the government always can tell whether a pouch is opened or not.

From O'Dwyer's hands it went through the hands of five others until it reached Ulysses R. Brown, Negro postal clerk in Washington, who affects light striped vests and high linen collars. Each person handling the pouch had to sign vouchers and, indeed, the lock, for it is with the maze of red tape, vouchers, and receipts that the government seeks to keep unlawful hands from its mail.

Brown passed it on to Samuel Pleas-

GERMAN LEADER THANKS U. S. FOR MUCH AID IN 1924

Skies Clearing of Despair.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—In a speech at the opening of the Peiping party election campaign yesterday here, Dr. Stresemann said that the last year had witnessed a resurrection of Germany, that the year began in doubt and despair, but Germany is now a restored nation. He announced that Germany at present is negotiating trade treaties with France, England, Belgium, Switzerland, Turkey, and Japan, and is awaiting the signature of Spain and America, and already has Russia's, Italy's, Germany within a year is reviving.

The address dealt entirely with Germany's foreign policies, internal politics being left for public addresses.

A considerable portion of the speech was devoted to thanking America for its disinterested aid in the Dawes plan, putting through a loan, and reception of the Zeppelin, ZR-3.

Looks to America.

"The fulfillment of all the clauses of the London agreement so far justifies me in believing the fulfillment will continue," Herr Stresemann said. "The American influence in the London conference has proved itself beneficial.

With the material fulfillment of the Dawes plan was necessary, America oversubscribed our loan. The brave Zeppelin flight has reinforced the conviction that America and Germany are destined to participate in a peaceful solution of the problems of the world."

Herr Stresemann urged America to give up its selfish demands for high protection and let foreign goods enter the same as Germany is requesting favored nation treatment from other countries.

"But there is no fear of German goods swamping the world markets," he said. "A comparison of international trade statistics shows that the other nations have regained 80 per cent of their pre-war trade, while Germany has regained only 40 per cent."

Concerning Germany's entry in the league of nations, Herr Stresemann admitted that few nations had replied to Germany's ten point query letter, and the replies were satisfactory, "showing that the other nations do not understand Germany's position."

Japs Make Yanks Pay More for Visas than Anyone Else

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 13.—American citizens are now forced to pay considerably more for a passport visé to this country than the nationals of any other nation. The regulations provide that Americans must pay $10; Germans, $7.50; French, $5; Mexicans, $1.50, and all others, $1.

HILL, WET VICTOR, TO DEMAND U. S. PASS BEER BILL

Modify the Volstead Act, Congress to Be Told.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 13.—Representative John Philip Hill of Baltimore, who today was acquitted of charges of violations of the prohibition law, by the United States court, declared after the verdict that the finding gave him an opportunity to go before congress and demand modification of the Volstead act, and the passage of his 2.75 per cent beer bill on the grounds that the Volstead act, in its present form, discriminates and is unfair.

The indictment against Col. Hill accused him of being a manufacturer and possessor of wine and cider and maintaining a nuisance in his home. The latter charge was dismissed at the direction of Judge Morris A. Soper on the ground of insufficient evidence.

Prosecutor Is Silent.

United States Attorney Alfred W. Woodcock, who prosecuted the prosecution, refused to comment on the verdict and said the case was ended so far as he was concerned.

The jury which took the Hill case yesterday afternoon wrestled with it in the jury room for seventeen hours. The long battle, it was related by one of the jurors, was caused by two jurors who held out for a verdict of guilty. One of them gave in at 1 a. m. and joined the majority.

Cite Scriptures to Holdout.

All eleven then set to work to convince the one holding out. They cited scripture to prove their point. The prosecutor declared that he could not countenance such a "flagrant violation of the law."

The gray light of the early morning was streaming through the windows over the tired jurymen when the holdout finally surrendered.

MEANS "LOCAL OPTION"

[By A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—In the maze of conflicting statements issued here today on the status of liquor enforcement as a result of the acquittal of Representative John Philip Hill of Baltimore, on a charge of being a manufacturer of intoxicating cider and fruit juices, one fact stands out prominently.

In the future the wines and fruit juices of each community will have the amount of alcohol that the majority of its citizens want. In other words, wet communities will have plenty of home wines and fruit juices with a nonintoxicating kick of from 2 to 11 per cent, while dry communities will hold nature down to one-half of 1 per cent alcohol or less.

Haynes Admits Busting.

While not making a direct statement that the capture of alcoholic content was up to date, the Prohibition Commissioner Haynes admitted that he could not fight the decision of the jury as there is no appeal possible. All he could do when a jury freed a man, he said, would be to re-arrest him if he committed a similar offense.

In a statement issued immediately after the jury brought in the verdict, Mr. Haynes said:

"It is not my purpose to criticize the creators and defenders of the drastic provisions of the Volstead act have been proved the arrant hypocrites that they are. When the farmer vote was question their high moral sentiments made way for expediency. As now written the Volstead act is class legislation."

Volstead Shuts.

GRANITE FALLS, Minn., Nov. 13.—The opinion of Judge Morris A. Soper of Baltimore that fruit juices of the 2.75 per cent beer content may be made by Hill in fact for intoxicating and this unit will take notice of all such cases hereafter and the law enforcement will proceed as before."

NEARLY 200,000 TURK REFUGEES FROM GREECE DIE

Politicians Wax Rich as Hunger Kills Peasants.

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.
Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.
Copyright 1924 by The Chicago Tribune.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—The return of Turkish peasants from Thrace, now a part of Greece, to Turkey is becoming a frightful tragedy. The peasants are returning in accordance with the agreement reached at Lausanne between Turkey and Greece for the exchange of their respective nationals living in Thrace and Anatolia.

At least one-third of the 400,000 Turkish peasants already arrived in Anatolia have died of malaria, exposure, and starvation, according to the League of Nations' exchange of population commission, while Turkish newspapers estimate that at least one-half have died. In many camps 75 per cent have died. The government has no statistics.

Branded by Politicians.

Two-thirds of the $3,000,000 ($27,600,000) set aside by the Angora government for the care of refugees has been used to pay functionaries, and although all properties abandoned in Turkey by Greeks returning to their home land were supposed to be turned over to Thracian Turks, the best properties have been taken by local governors and politicians and others stripped of all household goods.

Many Turkish refugees who arrive here are homeless and hungry and are sent to poor, remote, unsettled districts of Anatolia, where they are unable to find food, shelter, medical attention, grain, seed, or farming implements. One group of rich Thracian Turks who tried to purchase good farming land in Anatolia was swindled of $175,000 ($105,000) by local politicians and sent to the wheat lands and wheat farmers sent to the tobacco lands.

Hunger Ismet for Tragedy.

As these Turkish refugees were supposed to compensate Turkey largely for the loss of 1,500,000 Greeks and Armenians who fled from Turkey, the disappearance is bound to cause the country a huge economic loss. Best observers believe the entire 400,000 will be dead before spring.

At Angora the new opposition party under Raouf Bey is criticizing Prime Ismet Pasha for this tragedy, but Premier Ismet blames the assembly for not appropriating sufficient credits.

MR. LINDHE AND MRS. FORD GONE FROM OAK PARK

And Mr. Ford Insists
They're Together.

They are putting one and another

The facts they have to go on are after all, somewhat scanty. It seems

And it also seems that Thure Lindhe, he resigned after being accused of taking a bribe from a beer runner, has left his wife and daughter at their home at 547 Pleasant street. This

BORAH TO GUARD U. S. ENTRY INTO WORLD COURT

Will Watch Carefully for League Shoals.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING, Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—(Special)—The United States will not enter the existing world court unless it shall be completely divorced from the League of nations if Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), prospective new chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, has his way about it.

That the Idaho senator will wield a powerful influence in the settlement of this and other important questions is not doubted. With the passing of Senator Lodge, Mr. Borah not only succeeds him as chairman of the great committee, but becomes the foremost man in Congress. Mr. Borah was reelected last week, and for the next six years, if not longer, will be pretty continuously in the Washington limelight.

Wants a Special Session.

The senator favors a special session of the new congress next spring, particularly for the purpose of passing agricultural relief legislation.

The opinions of Senator Borah on the world court proposal and other matters were elicited following a call on President Coolidge this afternoon. He said it was really a social call to salute the executive on his electoral triumph and that he did not discuss any public matter except pending legislation which is due for final action as soon as congress meets next month.

Although the 1924 Republican party platform endorses the world court and President Coolidge has proposed our entrance therein, Senator Borah thinks no action at all should be taken pending action in the members of the League of nations on the protocol framework at the Geneva meeting in September.

Japan Has Provided a Lesson.

This is the protocol the first draft of which Japan caused the League to amend in such manner that Japan would not be outlawed if she should attack the United States because of our Japanese exclusion law.

"But this protocol, favorable in its implications to Japan and unfavorable to the United States, should be adopted, it would be unwise for us to enter the existing world court on any terms," Mr. Borah thinks.

"It is conceivable that we would need an certificate of wisdom and devotion to the interests of their country," said the senator, who was the leader of the irreconcilables in the fight of the League in the fight of the League, "it was furnished by this protocol."

Agrees with Mellon on Tax.

Senator Borah said he was prepared to accept Secretary Mellon's opinion that it will be too early at the coming session, or even at a special session next spring, to revise taxes downward again, but he insisted that, aside from the tax question, there was abundant necessity for an extraordinary session of the new congress.

"In addition to the international questions that ought to be acted on there are transportation and agricultural problems which we must solve without delay, in the interest of promoting the highest welfare of the country."

"It is evident that the Esch-Cummins transportation act is to be changed in some important particulars, and I note that Senator Cummins

FLO ZIEGFELD PLANS THEATERS FOR CHICAGOANS

BY AL CHASE.

Florenz Ziegfeld, Chicago born and New Yorker by profession, whose chief bid for fame is in his list of Follies, and yet who has never owned or named a theater, will build two in his home town—Chicago.

One is to be called the Ziegfeld and will cost $1,500,000. The other will be christened the Lake Shore and will be a tiny house of the intimate type with 350 seats. It'll be a few feet off of Upper Michigan avenue, a short distance north of the Tribune tower. It will cost $850,000.

According to Benjamin Marshall, who will design both playhouses, the Ziegfeld will have 1,700 seats and will be used solely for musical productions. Like the Lake Shore, the Ziegfeld will be a pioneer in forsaking the Randolph street Rialto. It is understood a site not far from the intersection of Wabash and South Water is under option.

It is understood that these two houses will care for productions which formerly were booked at the Colonial and Powers, both of which have been wrecked.

The Lake Shore will house the same class of attractions popular for many years in Chicago.

Ziegfeld is expected in Chicago next week. Mr. Marshall says work will start as soon as possible, with the hope of having both houses open for the fall of 1925.

DEMOCRATS TO FIGHT BUTLER'S TWO YEAR TERM

Demand Election to Fill Lodge's Seat.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13.—William M. Butler, who led President Coolidge's campaign for nomination and as chairman of the Republican national committee conducted the party's campaign in the recent election, will take the seat in the United States senate made vacant by the death of Senator Cabot Lodge, but may find it challenged by the Democratic state organization on a question of the constitutionality of the act under which Gov. Cox appointed him today.

Filing with an executive clerk late today a bill which would strike out of the statutes the law enacted two years ago which gives the governor the power of appointing senators to serve until the next state election, Charles H. McGovern, chairman of the Democratic state committee, said there was no objection to Mr. Butler's being named for a temporary period.

Questions Legality.—The Democratic party does feel, he said, that an appointment made over two years ago is required that might be considered temporary and violates the federal constitutional amendment providing for direct election of senators.

The legislature which convenes in January is asked to repeal this provision, and efforts will be made to bring about an election between Jan. 1 and the convening of the next congress on March 4, the chairman said. The Supreme court of the United States might be petitioned on the same constitutional ground he said.

Advised by Counsel.—It is understood that Gov. Cox had before him when he appointed Mr. Butler an opinion from William E. Dorman, counsel to the state senate, that no judicial question could be raised, and that the governor was acting entirely within the law.

Coolidge is Pleased.—Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Word of the appointment of William M. Butler as senator from Massachusetts was received with undisguised approval today by the White House.

AL PLAYS GOLF AND NOT POLITICS AT FRENCH LICK

Other "Dems" Discuss G. O. P. Changes.

BY PARKE BROWN.

French Lick, Ind., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Gov. Al Smith of New York arrived here tonight, but his first intention was to make sure that he is here for golf and not for politics.

He was greeted by Tom Tammart, Democratic boss of Indiana, and owner of the resort, and by George Brennan, national committeeman for Illinois, but it was not a prearranged meeting. No communication had been exchanged except the New Yorker's request for reservations for his party.

He brought with him Charles M. Winchester and William A. Humphrey, widely known as his golfing partners, and indicated that most of his weighty discussions during the last few days had concerned their rival sources. He expects to spend his mornings resting, reading, and handling necessary correspondence, and the afternoons at golf. He may remain here at least a week and probably will return home just in time for Thanksgiving.

Gov. Smith and his party spent most of the evening in the lobby of the hotel chatting with old friends and the scores of guests presented to him.

The Democratic outnumbers several times the Republicans resting here and, at West Baden, but in view of the results of the election the lobby gossip concerns Republican affairs almost entirely. There are some sore spots among the Democrats that are receiving.

President Expects to Be Here on Dec. 4.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—While in Chicago early in December President Coolidge will devote his entire time to attending the live stock exposition and will not deliver his address. This became known to-day after a conference of Representative Martin B. Madden of Chicago with the President.

Mr. Madden soon after his nomination withdrew from the law firm of Stetson, Jennings, Russell & Davis. It was in this firm that Mr. Davis handled the law business of J. P. Morgan & Co.

COUNTY EXPERT CHARGES JUDGES FOSTER WASTE

Replying to the Superior court judges' denunciation of his method of paying jurors, J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert, yesterday said the following Monday, as his message probably will be transmitted to congress on Tuesday, Dec. 2. It is not known whether he means to read his message in person but in any event he would not leave Washington until it had been delivered.

Some $400,000 is expended each year for jurors' fees. Mr. Jacobs said. Many jurors never received what was due them under the old system, he added.

The judges ordered a return to that method by which jury records have to be rewritten at least four times because, they said, the efficiency scheme was illegal and a peril to litigation.

The expert's method would eliminate the extra work, and eliminate, through the payment of jurors' fees by mail, abuses by county employees, and inconvenience to jurors, Mr. Jacobs claims.

"LOCK ME UP OR PLL ROB AGAIN," YOUTH ASSERTS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—Princess Joachim of Prussia, widow of the former Kaiser's youngest son, today married a rich land owner. Prince Joachim, 61, and his bride, 21, said the princess had been untrue to her marriage vow. The third party in the Joachim triangle was a young officer who saved them in the Munich revolt, but who later proved to be a swindler. Prince Eitel took Prince Joachim's son away from the widow, claiming the princess was unfit morally to bring him up, but the princess sued and regained the child.

Eda Block, 19, of 5408 Seeley avenue, walked into the detective bureau last night and tossed a .22 caliber pistol on the sergeant's desk.

"I robbed a taxicab chauffeur last night," he said. "I was hungry and it was the only way I could get money for food. The chauffeur had more than $2, but that is all I took."

"I'm hungry again, and unless you take that pistol away from me, I'll go out and hold up somebody else."

He asked to be put in a cell and the police accommodated him.

BORAH ON RECOGNIZING RUSSIA.

Most conspicuous of the advocates of recognizing the Moscow regime is the brilliant but somewhat erratic senator from Idaho. We have examined Mr. Borah's contentions in support of recognition and found them unconvincing, and, least of all, his remarks at Harrisburg, Pa., on Tuesday, when, if the report is accurate, he told the state council of Republican women that recognition is "a necessary step toward the economic rehabilitation of Europe." "It is absolutely necessary," Mr. Borah is reported to have said, "to settle the European problem that we settle the Russian problem."

With all due respect to the distinguished senator, this, taken by itself at any rate, is just more of the tall talk with which we have been fed up since 1917. We submit it to Mr. Borah if it is desirable that a member of the most august deliberative body on earth, or words to that effect, and a possible or probable chairman of the foreign affairs committee of that body, ought to talk about settling the European problem or settling the Russian problem as if either were a little matter like roping a steer in Mr. Borah's country! We have plenty of citizens who cherish that illusion. We don't doubt the senior class of Bryn Mawr or Garrett Biblical Institute would undertake to settle the problem of Europe or of Russia with ease and expedition. But why should a senator talk like a graduation day orator?

But, adopting for the moment the quaint idea prevailing among so many aspiring if naïve Americans, that Europe is groping hopelessly in darkness waiting for light and leading from us, why does Mr. Borah think recognition by Washington of the Bolshevik régime is necessary to "settle the Russian problem"? We grant that recognition is wanted by the Bolsheviks in and out of Russia. We grant it would give prestige to their control of Russian affairs and to the cause of communism throughout the world. A correspondent of THE TRIBUNE in the thick of the near eastern political swirl writes us as follows: "I fancy that the effort of the Bolsheviks to revolutionize the world is going to be the biggest and the most vital story in the world for some time to come. It is truly they have failed in France, Germany and Italy, but they are carrying on an intense campaign in England and they are pouring tons of millions of dollars into India, China and other parts of the east. I understand that more than 90 per cent of their effort is now in the east and that they are having great success there." That was written not to Idaho or Washington but from the firing line of Asiatic politics and by an able and reliable man. It is verified by facts everywhere appearing in Asiatic affairs. Mr. Borah may ignore them but the government and the nation cannot afford to.

Recognition of Moscow by Washington does not imply we approve the Bolshevik régime. On that we agree with Mr. Borah. No responsible objection to recognition is based on that. But recognition is earnestly desired by Bolsheviks in and out of Russia, because they will use it immediately in propaganda as evidence that the most powerful anti-Russian power on the earth has been compelled to salute the Bolshevik triumph in Russia. It will be spread throughout all disaffected regimes and among peoples densely ignorant of the facts, as a harbinger of the communist dawn, a tribute to the swelling might of the proletarian revolution.

Getting down to brass tacks, we know of no advantage in the form of trade or financial or other opportunity in Russia which are substantial enough to compensate the American people for that disservice to the world or for the nuisance of having within the borders of the United States a small army of communist emissaries, protected from arrest or deportation by their diplomatic immunity. We do not contend, as Mr. Borah seems to imply, that these emissaries can overthrow our government or subvert our institutions. We do contend that they will make more petty mischief than recognition is likely to be worth to us in trade.

We have no disposition to dictate what form of government shall be accepted by or imposed upon the Russian people and refusal to establish diplomatic relations should not be, and we are confident is not, based on our disapproval of the wreckage, cruelties and inefficiencies of the communist control. Refusal to recognize is justified on entirely concrete and practical grounds and we trust there will be no weakening in our policy under President Coolidge.

THE DANES PREFER BUTTER.

When it's butter or battleship in Denmark the Danes usually pick butter. Eggs can defend their frontiers better than any army it is likely to have. Good bacon has capacities for conquest more potent for the Danes than Zeppelins.

Danish butter and bacon and eggs are hanging away at the American market with devastating results. Long ago they reduced England to a great and willing dependency. "Denmark," some one has said, "is England's Iowa."

Now England's Iowa is going to decide that it wants no armies and navies. Lauritz Rasmussen, minister of defense, has introduced a bill to that effect, and the chances are that it will pass. It will save $6,000,000 a year to buy more hay, to raise more cows, to make more butter and bacon and eggs, to hunt into the foreign markets still more. Denmark is a thrifty little Arcadia, if somewhat chilly, and they don't want to complicate it with an army and navy.

Denmark is lucky. It can sit tight and let the big boys build the Panama canal, tame the wild places of the earth, homestead the wilderness and defend the northern races against the raids and pressures of hungry powers.

Denmark is lucky. No one can deny that Denmark does her part in this world. Few peoples of her size can do as much. But that part is sweet for Denmark. It is Arcadian and pastoral. It is peaceful in a world of war and restlessness.

Without the dense industrialism of great states Denmark could find no markets for her butter, eggs and bacon. Without the glittering ships of war and armies of the greater states Denmark could not relinquish arms and ships and play with peace. It is England's interest and perhaps even America's that Denmark be left alone. That is her protection.

A weak navy is worse than none. Denmark has learned the lesson and wisely plans to retire from that business. America should learn it, too, and build more cruisers.

THE NEW JAIL.

Downtown is not the place for the jail. The Bridewell site is better. Convert the Bridewell into the city jail; build a $2,500,000 Criminal Court building near by, and erect a House of Correction still farther out of town; that is the plan of the citizens' committee headed by Joseph R. Noyal. It is a good plan.

Today Chicago's jail is a disgrace and an abomination. Built long ago, and none too humanely, for a maximum of 413 prisoners, it must now hold on an average $30 to $40 prisoners daily. Cells less than half the size required by modern standards of decency for one person are crowded with two to five inmates. In 1875 more than 10,400 prisoners passed through the Chicago jail.

Of these prisoners all but 2 per cent were released without trial or indictment. Seventeen per cent were released without trial. More than 15 per cent were tried and found not guilty. Twenty per cent were under 21 years of age. Thirty-two per cent of the prisoners held in the city jail under conditions intolerable to decent human beings were innocent persons. That is a state of affairs that no civilized city can endure. There must be a new jail and a Criminal Court building.

The new jail need not be downtown. Rebuilding on the present site will cost from $12,000,000 to $25,000,000. The citizens' committee appointed by Anton Cermak, president of the county board, has a plan that calls for only $4,500,000. The present House of Correction can be converted into a jail without great change. It will be sanitary. It will give more room. It will give prisoners who desire a chance to work and study. It will give at least a decent break to the thousands of prisoners annually who are innocent of crime. The cost of purchase from the county will be $1,750,000. Bette it should be built a new Criminal Court building. Farther out should be built a new House of Correction.

Jails are not assets near the loop. Valuable property is tied up. Nearby property is injured. Lawyers' inconveniences notwithstanding, the better plan is to put the jail at California boulevard and 26th street. The Bridewell is there now.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT IN LOEHOIS.

After the escape of Leopold and Loeb from the extreme penalty fixed by law for deliberate murder it became difficult to approve the hanging of any murderers. The public evil of that escape remains. Yet the community cannot afford to condemn murder because in a given case has been committed by a man who lacks means to escape punishment. In sentencing an obscure colored man to hang Judge Hopkins fulfilled his duty. The fact that a prisoner has confessed his crime cannot be held to justify commutation of the penalty, for that opens an easy door to the evasion of adequate punishment. There should be no excuse for the assumption among the wholly disposed that if their case becomes desperate they can escape the gallows merely by confession.

But though we must approve the effective imposition of lawful penalty when it occurs, and though the duty of judge or jury cannot be modified by the failure of other judges or juries to do their duty, the punishment of an obscure and unfeared offender must be a good deal of the effect sought so long as offenders having pull or other means of avoiding or mitigating justice are able to escape the penalty imposed upon the obscure. Thus a vicious circle is created, and the object of the law, which is to deter crime, is doubly defeated. The one criminal avoids adequate punishment; the other's punishment, though appropriate and justified, appears excessive and unjust by contrast.

The situation is profoundly demoralizing. Yet about all the talk by reformers of disrepect for law is directed at the refusal of citizens to obey the sumptuary regulations of the prohibition law. Disrespect for the divine commandment, though not kill, and the ineffectuality of the law to enforce that commandment gets comparatively little of our reformers' interest.

The civic conscience of this nation needs a cold shower of common sense.

The Other Side

THE LAW IN CANADA.

[Sault (Canada) Daily Star.] Illustrations of what law means in this country have been comprehensive.

Four murderers have been hanged in Montreal after but not long delayed trial.

Another murderer in Ontario, an alien, was recently executed despite all sorts of pressure to get him off.

A prominent public man, ex-colonial minister, ex-provincial treasurer of Ontario, has been sent to penitentiary for graft.

One of the province's chief civil servants who went west was followed to California, brought back, and sent to penitentiary.

A prominent and wealthy Toronto business man has been sent to jail and fined $60,000 for defrauding the public.

The wealthy directors of a bank which collapsed are undergoing trial. Several officials of the bank have been convicted of failure of trust and awaiting sentence.

Suspicion arises of deficiencies or worse in a police force, investigation gets under way, and a chief of police is promptly found suspended from office.

In every case the law has been prompt, efficient, and resolute. Political influence, wealth, position, have had no greater respect from the law and no more respite than suspects from other classes, minor officials, or the very underworld. There has not been even a suggestion in any responsible quarter that money or influence could protect against the courts.

It is well worth while for Canadians to be able to say this, knowing it to be true. It is a good indication of the temper of our people, a good augury for the national future.

BLOWN OUT.

How to Keep Well.

RATS AND HUMANS. There are eight conditions—apparently dissimilar and unrelated—and yet each is part of the same general picture. The eight conditions are:

1. Emaciation.
2. Arrested growth (growth which is slow and non-nutritious).

3. Rickets.

4. Ulcers on the cornea (eyes).

5. Premature senility.

6. Sterility.

7. Few children.

8. Heavy infant mortality.

All result from improper nutrition. The experimental work on which these conclusions are based was done on rats. When rats are fed a diet containing cod liver oil, they are fat, healthy, and live longer. When rats are fed a diet containing cod liver oil, they are thin, weak, and die earlier. The rats fed cod liver oil, spend an hour or more daily in the sunlight. It will cure all the severer or eight disorders and it tastes better.

And then came Stockebeck, who says "take any radiated food." Radiated butter, margarine, cottonseed oil, lard, even when others are good for you, may not be good for you.

It is important to find the fountain of youth in the sunlight and taking cod liver oil if we like it, or radiated butter if we prefer that.

HUSBAND AWAY: SHE CAN'T SLEEP.

Mr. R. C. M. writes: My husband has started night duty and I have been unable to sleep. I do not feel afraid, but just as soon as I lay down I get wide awake and do not sleep until after midnight. How do you think it will affect me to get used to his being away if I am determined to get over it?

REPLY.

That's up to you. You are too anxious to sleep. Perhaps also you are afraid. Train yourself to go to sleep as soon as you go to bed, whether or not you sleep. If you sleep, all right. You can sleep on the morrow, or the next night. When you get yourself into that frame of mind you will sleep. Do not take any medicine to make you sleep.

KILLING CHIGGERS.

G. F. H. writes: I went to Indiana last summer and the chiggers got me. I picked wild blackberries one afternoon, and that night and the next I had an awful time. I sent for a doctor and he pronounced it "chiggers—some 200 of 'em." He tried all kinds of remedies—such as soap, starch, strong peroxide of hydrogen, alcohol, radish, and many patent medicines, but still the chiggers devoured me. A farmer advised me to use kerosene and salt, equal parts. I tried it and got almost instant relief. It killed the chiggers at once.

NO SUBMITTING.

La Orange, Ill., Nov. 11.—To the Legal Friend of the People.—Would it be legal to sublet a room in my apartment after having signed a lease containing the following clause: "That the rent of said rooms will be $100 a month, payable monthly, while occupied by yourself and wife, two children, and one relative?"

W. W. N. We assume that the lessor does not specify that the room will be if otherwise occupied.

The construction of the clause would be difficult even if the wording of the entire lease were before us and is impossible without such wording.

THE CHILDREN'S SUPPORT. Chicago, Nov. 11.—To the Legal Friend of the People.—Is there a law compelling a son or daughter to keep their mother in their own home? If she has no means of support, what then?

Through sickness she becomes mentally incapable of taking care of herself. Would it be lawful to confine her to a home?

2. I built a considerable addition to a house after agreeing with lessor, and though the duty of judge or jury cannot be modified by the failure of other judges or juries to do their duty, the punishment of an obscure and unfeared offender must be a good deal of the effect sought so long as offenders having pull or other means of avoiding or mitigating justice are able to escape the penalty imposed upon the obscure. NOVEMBER 14, 1924. NEW YORK.—A Washington special says that Gen. Banks was in consultation with President Lincoln at the department for several hours. 1 DEAD, 1 DYING, TOLL OF ROW IN MEXICAN HOUSE

"Sam Gompers" of Mexico Reported Low.

BY FREDERICK NEUMEIER
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

Mexico City, Nov. 13.—Despite a Yankee salesman's big business in bulletproof vests in the capital last night and today, the Mexican chamber of deputies was unable to get a quorum tonight and adjourned.

As a result of the shooting in the chamber last night, Leocadio Guerrero, aged deputy from the state of Zacatecas, is dead, and Deputy Luis Morones, the dominant labor leader of Mexico, is reported to be dying with a bullet in his stomach.

Workers throughout the republic have been storming the capital with telegrams expressing their indignation over the shooting and demanding re-prisals against Deputy José Sánchez and his supporters, who shot it out with the Morones crowd.

Cause of Shooting.

The shooting took place at a closed session of the chamber. Arguments became heated and Deputy Sánchez of Puebla rose on the speakers' stand and called upon Señor Morones to prove certain charges of al-fraud. When the defense was made by several deputies, then revolvers appeared and one shot was fired. This brought on shooting from all sides. In a few minutes more than 200 shots had been fired.

Guerrero First to Fall.

Deputy Guerrero was the first to fall, and he was carried out. Then Señor Morones was staggered by a shot and friends rushed to his rescue, carrying him from the hall. Friends of Señor Morones say some thirty shots were fired at him when he was carried through the door.

"They have assassinated me," Señor Morones said as he was being carried from the building to a sanitarium. Police and Red Cross attendants by this time had arrived, and the smoke-filled chamber was cleared.

COOLIDGE SEES U. S. TREND INTO FOOD SHORTAGE

Extols Policy of Laws to Encourage Farmer.

handsome subsidies of land sixty years ago, sit tight with a sense of responsibility.

Cheering Up the Farmers.

For he told them they were the main agency for the prevention of the "discouragement and decadence which overcame the nation with manufacture and trade storms approaching."

"You of the land grant colleges," he said, "have added a new element to the equation which has never before been in it."

"You must make that element decisive. It is true there are some countries in which the balance of these elements has been so well maintained that agriculture has continued to flourish alongside prosperous industries and successful commerce. But these are found where the population is approximately static and the community comparatively self-contained. It is not our destiny to be a community of that kind. We must look forward to a long continuing increase in population. We must realize that our relationships with the outside world, increase in number, complexity, and importance in their influences on our social structure."

Looking Far Ahead.

"We cannot begin too soon to prepare for this future. It may seem contradictory to suggest that in a time when we are embarrassed with surpluses for which markets are not easily to be found, we must begin to plan for exactly opposite conditions."

The organizations and methods which look to economies and efficiencies in producing and distributing will be equally useful, equally necessary, in either set of circumstances.

To establish these instruments will commit us to that most inexorable of economic sins, a deliberate policy of sheer wastefulness. And wastefulness, when in disregard of a surplus or potential deficiency, in the end can only result in calamity."

The land grant colleges, which largely specialize in scientific and efficient agriculture, must, the President declared, establish courses in cooperative marketing and farm economics, for this reason:

"The agricultural problem of today is not on the side of production, but on the side of distribution."

The President's good-by message to the farmer-educators was:

"I want to see a good farmer on a good farm raise a good crop and secure a good price." (Prolonged applause.)

The President paid a fitting tribute to the late Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, describing him as an "ideal public servant" because he had "exercised ability, energy, character, and met his duties" with fidelity and discretion."

"It is what I learned from him that brings me to this gathering," was one of the forthright sentences of the President's forthright tribute to a forthright man.

Brig. Gen. Poore Takes Command at Fort Sheridan

Brig. Gen. Benjamin Andrew Poore arrived in Chicago yesterday and took over command of Fort Sheridan, a prize assignment of the Army. Gen. Poore succeeded Gen. George Van Horn Moseley. Mrs. Poore will arrive next week. Gen. Poore is 62 years old and was born in Center, Ala. He was graduated from West Point in 1886. He wears the D. S. M. D. S. C. French and Italian war crosses, and is an officer of the French Legion of Honor.

MISS HALEY PINS SCHOOL DEFEAT BLAME ON DEVER

Resents "Insult to Ella Flagg Young."

Mayor Dauer and the school board are bitterly assailed for the board's action in abolishing teachers' councils and compelling them to meet after school hours in a statement issued yesterday by Miss Margaret Haley of the Chicago Teachers' Federation.

It is the first time Miss Hale has publicly held the mayor responsible in any way for the school board's actions.

It is reported that efforts on her part to persuade the mayor to act in the teachers' behalf in the controversy between the federation and Supt. McAndrew have failed and she is now blaming Mayor Dauer for the result.

Insult to Ella Flagg Young.

Miss Hale looks upon the board's action as an insult to the memory of Ella Flagg Young, who established and fostered the educational councils twenty years ago.

"The board of education has jumped on the corpse of Mrs. Ella Flagg Young's educational councils," Miss Hale said. "To finish the job properly, the mayor and the board of education should disinter Ella Flagg Young's bones and burn them publicly and thus announce in a way that the public would understand that she was a heretic and not a great educator."

Miss Hale suggests that Mrs. Young's book, "Isolation in the School," and the portrait of her which hangs in the Normal school should be added to the pyre.

"This public ceremony," she says, "might be an effective way to apologize to the women's clubs to stop slandering Mrs. Young as a great educator, return the money they collected for a memorial to her, and undo the harm they have done in putting her name before the public as a great educator."

The federation plans to hold a mass-meeting to protest the latest action of the board.

Plan Mass Protest.

Miss Hale suggests that Mrs. Young's book, "Isolation in the School," and the portrait of her which hangs in the Normal school should be added to the pyre.

"This public ceremony," she says, "might be an effective way to apologize to the women's clubs to stop slandering Mrs. Young as a great educator, return the money they collected for a memorial to her, and undo the harm they have done in putting her name before the public as a great educator."

The federation plans to hold a mass-meeting to protest the latest action of the board.

NAVY ARMS WITH AIR BOAT FLEET FOR SEA DEFENSE

New Sky Cruiser Can Make One Hop to Honolulu.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Steps to round out naval air armament to an extent which may revolutionize basic strategy were announced today by the navy department.

A contract has been let with a commercial company for a new type of flying boat—able of a day's sustained flight at more than 100 miles an hour and with a useful load capacity of up to two tons. Two other planes, different in design but with the same cargo space and cruising radius, are to be constructed at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Naval officials said the new craft represented "a logical development in naval auxiliaries," but did not seek to minimize its importance in connection with modern studies of sea warfare.

Defense for Surprise Attack.

Regardless of their attitude in the controversy over offensive value of aircraft, navy officers are agreed that a few squadrons of flying boats would enable the United States to embarrass seriously the success of any surprise attack from a long distance, if their existence would not serve to prevent such attempt.

The new planes, with ability to hop off unsupported from San Diego for Honolulu, would be invaluable as far flung scouts in any critical period.

Carrying a step further their analysis of the effect of the new "flying squadron," some officers see in the boats at least a partial solution of the problem raised when the United States gave up under the arms limitation treaties the right to fortify Guam and the Philippines.

Should the naval auxiliaries come up to expectations, however, they would comprise an emergency naval force, practically independent of their continental base and a ready supplement to the insular defenses.

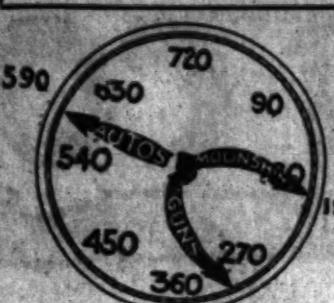

To Be Built at Duraham.

The new plane is described in official literature as "a fast metal patrol plane." It will be constructed almost entirely of duralumin, the light alloy of which the frame work of the Shenandoah is built.

As illustrating the rapid development of naval aircraft the department today compared the new flyer with those of the historic NC type, which made the first trans-Atlantic flight five years ago.

The weight of the NC was 23,600 pounds, its sustained speed probably not more than 100 miles an hour, and its range 1,800 miles. The new navy plane will have a loaded weight of 24,000 pounds, but a range of nearly 1,900 miles more and double the speed. The NC wing span was 126 feet, compared with 87 feet 8 inches for the new plane.

The five men to compose the crew will include two pilots, two mechanics, and a radio operator. The tandem engines will develop 1,450 horse power.

TWO WOMEN HURT BY AUTOS; NONE IS KILLED

Irate motorists and pedestrians caused the arrest last night of Charles Mott, colored, 4849 Langley avenue, who drove his motor car past the signal light at Michigan avenue and 16th street and injured two women. A crowd of more than a hundred persons assembled around Mott, forced him to drive his victim to St. Luke's hospital, and then gave him to the police.

No motor deaths were reported by the police yesterday. The year's toll of persons killed by automobiles stood at 596. It was the second deathless day within a week.

A note bearing those words was read at the inquest held in Barrington yesterday over the bodies of Mrs. Margaret Allen and C. A. Hamel, who killed Mrs. Allen and then committed

ASKS DEVER O. K.
ON CITY'S HELP FOR POOR MEN

Miss McDowell Wants Lodging House Opened.

Mayor Dever will soon be requested to authorize operation of Chicago's municipal lodging house for at least four months during the coming winter. It was stated yesterday by Miss Mary McDowell, commissioner of public welfare. A special budget of about $5,000 will have to be authorized by the council finance committee to carry on the work, Miss McDowell said.

MISS MARY

"I don't want the impression to get around that I am trying to shout 'hard times' by asking the mayor to open the lodging house," Miss McDowell declared. "For though it is true that conditions now appear to be somewhat worse than last winter, for instance, we are not by any means approaching an employ-ment crisis."

Gives Her Reasons.

"There are many reasons why our municipal lodging house should be the ready emergency shelter. Chicago is a natural assembly point for thousands of casual laborers every year, en route to and from various kinds of seasonal employment."

"Then within the last year or more we have had great influxes of Negroes from the south, and of Mexicans. When it gets cold many of them will be set adrift, walking the streets, moneyless, homeless."

Other Charities Report.

Miss McDowell said the United Charities report for last July showed an increase of 48.8 per cent in applications for aid over July, 1923. The city's lodging house contains 350 beds. Miss McDowell said.

U. S. DESTROYS 11 NEW WAR CRAFT, BRITAIN NONE

Figures Throw Light on Big 3 Standing.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—The United States has scrapped eleven new capital ships, aggregating nearly half a million tons, it was learned today from figures compiled by naval experts showing the present status of the principal naval powers under the working of the limitation of armament treaties. The tables show no new ships scrapped by Great Britain and only two by Japan.

The report is especially interesting owing to the agitation created by the efforts to have the navy restrained by court order from sinking the Washington under the present plans. The attorney general's office tomorrow will present to court the navy's reply to the suit.

How the Big Three Stand.

According to the figures, the United States is credited with 525,850 tons in capital ships retained under the treaty. Great Britain with 555,350 tons, including two aircraft-carriers expected to be completed early in 1926, and Japan with 501,320 tons.

Besides new ships the United States has scrapped seventeen old ships, totaling 265,770 tons; Great Britain twenty-four old ones, aggregating 500,000 tons, and Japan ten, comprising 163,312 tons.

The United States has in commission today 18 capital ships, including 17 active and 1 in reserve; Great Britain, 17 active and 1 in reserve, and Japan, 9 active and 1 reserve.

Under the heading of light cruisers completed or laid down since 1912 the table shows the United States has 2 built, aggregating 67,500 tons, and one building of 7,500 tons, while Great Britain has 47 built and 8 building, with a total tonnage of 55 ships of 298,350 tons. This is about what the British are entitled to under the 5-5-3 ratio. To attain parity the United States has 22 built and 22 building, totaling 225,250 tons. The Japanese have 18 light cruisers built, totaling 91,440 tons, and 8 building, making a total of 115,000 tons.

We Have Most Destroyers.
In destroyers the United States has a superiority in number with a total of 238, aggregating 342,026 tons, but we are seriously outclassed by other powers, who have not only destroyers, but the necessary destroyer leaders, as, for instance, Great Britain, with 165 destroyers and 18 destroyer leaders. In fleet submarines the United States has 3 built of the T class, all out of commission because of engine failure, 4 building. Great Britain has 8 built and 1 building; Japan, 5 built and 22 building, giving that country 27 to our 6.

SLIM CHANCE FOR RAIL BILLS SEEN IN THIS CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Reports from Iowa that Senator Cummins (Rep., Ia.), former chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, hopes to obtain action at the coming short session of congress on important rail measures caused speculation today as to reasons why the senator, if correctly quoted, thinks there is a chance for agreement in the present congress.

Senator La Follette (Rep., Wis.) and his small group of followers still have the veto power in the senate, but should legislation preventing a recurrence of depression in the agricultural industry as desired by the President and act on railroad bills.

JAPANESE RAISE POLITICAL ISSUE AT OPIUM PARLEY

Conference Fails to Act on Traffic in Drugs.

GENEVA, Nov. 12.—[By Associated Press.]—Comedy and tragedy moved with melodramatic swiftness at the international opium conference today, when, as the culmination of hours of exciting debate, the conference decided to adopt no resolutions whatsoever concerning the opium evil in China.

Dominating the discussion was the dramatic manner in which Japan posed as the champion of China. Mr. Sugimura, the chief Japanese delegate, to day presented a resolution voicing concern that China loyalty would endeavor to stamp out opium cultivation.

Fights for China.

After astoundment had been expressed by other delegations over the resolution of a political committee at the opium conference, Japan withdrew the political part of the resolution, but was none less vigorous in fighting for China when John Campbell, an Englishman, who is representing India at the conference, introduced an amendment which virtually condemned China's handling of the opium evil.

The amendment said the conference acted with regret at the enormous illicit production and use of opium in China and that the large quantities of opium were reaching other countries in the far east, thereby making control over opium difficult.

"Too Much Criticism."

For Japan Mr. Sugimura insisted that through the League of Nations there already had been too much criticism of China—a powerful nation which, he declared, one day would play a great rôle in international affairs.

URGES AUSTRALIA TO BUILD NAVY, FORGET LEAGUE

Strengthen Defense, Premier Warns.

BY JACK MYERS.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

[Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune.]

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 13.—Prime Minister H. M. Bruce in a speech on defense problems strongly repudiates the League of Nations as being the reason why Australia has abandoned preparedness. Speaking at Orange, New South Wales, he said the League was too weak to enforce peace, and therefore it was useless to argue that the day had arrived when Australia might dispense with its defense.

"The commonwealth navy should not be a mere mosquito fleet," Mr. Bruce asserted. "An attack on Australia will come from a raiding expedition under an escort of fast, modern cruisers. If those cruisers can be met by ships of equal power and speed an effective measure in defense will be established."

"Singapore Base Imperative."

The federal government had this in mind when it recently decided to build two 10,000 ton vessels armed with eight-inch guns.

"The Singapore base is imperative to the security of the commonwealth and instead of contributing to warfare, would be a factor in the promotion of world disarmament. Whether the British government proceeds with its work on the base or not Australia's duty is clear—it must maintain a relative defensive strength. If Australia strips itself of that strength there is no argument against an invader and white Australia is only a name."

Want Smaller Army.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

VIENNA, Nov. 13.—Demanding that Czechoslovakia be the first to fall in line with President Coolidge's plans for a reduction of armaments, the Socialists of Czechoslovakia today announced the completion of plans to bring about a reduction in the peace strength of the army from 300,000 to 70,000 men.

Czechoslovakia, which is one of the smaller European countries, boasts the fourth largest army at present, only France, Russia, and Poland having larger standing forces.

President Coolidge's plans for a new disarmament conference have greatly interested the central European countries. Not only in the former enemy states, where small armies are demanded by treaties of peace, but in Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and Poland a reduction in the crushing tax burden is seen if a general reduction of land forces is agreed on.

CITIZENS JEER AT HEARING ON BROADWAY SEWER

Aldermen Ask Busch for New Opinion.

Several hundred Lake View property owners crowding the city council chambers yesterday booted the streets and alleys committee when it decided to seek a new opinion from Corporation Counsel F. X. Busch on the validity of contracts awarded during the Thompson administration for the construction of the proposed $2,500,000 Broadway sewer. The project was abandoned just before the advent of the Dever regime, when the affected property owners resisted a $700,000 supplemental assessment for the project, which they were told by Michael Faherty, then president of the Board of Local Improvements, would cost only $1,800,000.

Crowd Cheers Albert.

A few months ago Corporation Counsel Busch revived the scheme when he declared that the $2,500,000 contract for the sewer construction awarded by Faherty to the White Construction company was binding upon the city and the work must proceed if the city was not to be held liable.

The crowd roared its approval of the demand of Ald. Arthur Albert [45d] that the grand jury investigate the circumstances under which Faherty gave the White Construction company a $2,500,000 contract when the County court had decreed special assessments of only $1,800,000 for the work.

Opposition Heard in Silence.

It listened in silence to statements from Health Commissioner Herman Bensusan, Engineer E. J. Kelly of the sanitary district, and others, urging the proposed sewer as an urgent necessity, and blessed John J. Sloan, president of the board of local improvements, when the latter sought to explain his desire to undertake the digging at once.

FISHERMAN ORDERED HELD.

Benjamin Fishman, 1408 South Albany avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday on charges of operating a confidence game. Fishman says he is a former agent of the Atlantic and Pacific Steamship Company.

CHICAGO WOMAN PRINCE DAVY'S CHAMP DANCER

BY DON SKENE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—Violent communist outbreaks in Salonika and Kavalla are considered the work of Vladimir Koloftzeff, who has been a Bolshevik propagandist agent in Macedonia for the last six months. He is an agent of Comintern, who is an agent in Constantinople, directing all the communist propaganda and revolutionary activity in the near east.

The intense Bolshevik activity in Greece and Bulgaria has a triple objective—establishing republics in the Balkans, surrounding Roumania with enemies, and isolating Turkey as the first step to seizing the straits.

M. Koloftzeff just has been appointed by the G. P. U. section of the Moscow foreign office as chief of espionage and propaganda of the soviet embassy in Paris.

Evidence that the Bolshevik propaganda agents in the near east are using counterfeit dollars and pounds in their work is constantly accumulating. This counterfeit money is being sent out of Moscow in soviet diplomatic pouches and a soviet ship.

With her husband, Mrs. Peabody left New York aboard the Olympic on its last voyage. The prince saw her way good-by to her friends, and immediately asked for an introduction. Every night through the six day voyage the prince danced with the dainty Chicago girl, who was the only American partner he chose during the trip. Upon reaching London he was twice the host of Mr. and Mrs. Peabody at dinner, followed by dancing until dawn at the Embassy club or one of London's night resorts. Mrs. Peabody danced her way right into the heart of St. James' palace. The Peabodys have been extensively entertained by the prince's staff, including Sir Walter Peacock and Capt. and Mrs. Lancolle, and they have visited Princess Mary.

"He is the most wonderful dancer in the world," Mrs. Peabody said this afternoon. "He is absolutely tireless on the dance floor, never stopping as long as the orchestra is playing, and they keep playing longer than three ordinary length dances when he is on the floor. I hate to leave London."

Mrs. Peabody danced her way right into the heart of St. James' palace. The Peabodys have been extensively entertained by the prince's staff, including Sir Walter Peacock and Capt. and Mrs. Lancolle, and they have visited Princess Mary.

"I Hate to Leave London."

"He is the most wonderful dancer in the world," Mrs. Peabody said this afternoon. "He is absolutely tireless on the dance floor, never stopping as long as the orchestra is playing, and they keep playing longer than three ordinary length dances when he is on the floor. I hate to leave London."

Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Peabody live in Highland Park. Their present sojourn to Europe is the second they have made this year. Mr. and Mrs. Peabody are well known in north shore social circles.

With her husband, Mrs. Peabody left New York aboard the Olympic on its last voyage. The prince saw her way good-by to her friends, and immediately asked for an introduction. Every night through the six day voyage the prince danced with the dainty Chicago girl, who was the only American partner he chose during the trip. MANCHU TROOPS MOVE SOUTH TO AVERT WU DRIVE

Chang and Christian Chief
Still at Odds.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

November 13: By The Chicago Tribune.

PEKING, Nov. 13.—Gen. Chang Tso-lin's Manchurian troops are taking strong positions south of the Yellow river, intending to make their base on the railway extending from Hsuehchow to Chengchow, Honan province. The general is striking out all news originating south of Tientsin, leaving Peking ignorant of developments. Gen. Chang hopes to end any attempt on the part of his defeated foe, Wu Pei-fu, to organize the Yangtze provinces for a renewal of the civil war.

Conferences continue in Tientsin, with the relations between Gen. Chang and Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang, the Christian general who betrayed Wu Pei-fu, severely strained over military matters, especially the fact that Wu will be eliminated from the political discussion which will follow. Gen. Chang seems to reach Peking and reorganize his government, but he desires to avoid further fighting in the north if possible.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen of South China will leave Hongkong tomorrow aboard a Japanese vessel, possibly remaining in Shanghai until he is certain of his acceptance into the Mukden dominated councils. The emergency cabinet is forming C. C. Wu, son of the late Wu Ta-ping, the ambassadorship to Moscow. This Gen. Chang opposes.

Conference in Tientsin.

TIENTSIN, Nov. 13.—[By the Associated Press.]—Tuan Chih-jui, former general and Anfu chief, returned yesterday to Tientsin, having been invited by the other national leaders here for the Tientsin conference. It was not indicated that national affairs were discussed.

Authoritative quarters here tonight believed that the situation would not change within the next few days.

Disagreement over the disarming of certain troops led to the resignation of day of Wang Cheng-Pin, civil governor of this (Chihli) province.

WEEKS O. K.'S CHICAGO BID FOR WORLD PLANE

Tentative Approval Won by Britten.

The airplane Chicago, mailship of the world flyers, may rest in the Field museum as Chicago's own historical exhibit within the next three weeks. At the end of an hour's conference yesterday with Secretary Weeks in Washington, Representative Fred A. Britten of Chicago stated that the secretary saw no reason for refusing the request and tentatively gave his consent.

Mr. Britten did not ask that the government release ownership of the craft, but merely that it lend the plane as a permanent exhibit, with the right to take it elsewhere for exhibition purposes at any time so desired. It was agreed that General Harti agreed to his proposal to have the plane sent to Chicago immediately as a temporary exhibit pending final action by the war department.

Mr. Britten again wrote the authorities at the Field museum yesterday asking them to forward photographs of the location in which the plane will be placed, so that he might submit these to Secretary Weeks for his approval.

tenance. On the other hand, he pointed out, there is ample space for the exhibit in the main entrance hall of the Field museum, where it might be placed, and that Chicago and museum authorities would guard and preserve it with all the care that the federal government itself could give.

LUCK AT CARDS WINS HIM SEAT AS N. D. SOLON

Fessenden, N. D., Nov. 13.—A turn of the cards has given W. R. Harti, Nonpartisan league, a seat in the North Dakota house of representatives.

A contest for the seat in the Thirty-third legislative district, Wells county, unfolded in favor of Carl Selle, independent, over the two candidates, Mr. Harti and Mr. Selle, by two votes. On the official account, however, Harti tied Selle at 1,586 votes.

A deck of cards was produced by the perplexed election officials and Harti drew a jack, a nine, and a five. Selle turned up a jack and a pair of deuces.

Displacement of Selle gives the Nonpartisan league a total of sixty-three members elected, while the independent or anti-league group drops to fifty.

Playing the Role of Mother, Wife, and Sweetheart
BY DORIS BLAKE

A young married woman writes a rather pathetic letter. She has been married only two years, and has a baby 6 months old.

"A friend of mine was over the other night, and she told me I was doing wrong in neglecting my husband for my baby. Of course, my husband and I did our best to help each other, but since the baby came, I have not been able to go out in the evening with him at all. We cannot afford any fun, and I am not fortunate enough to have any relatives living near me with whom I can leave the baby.

"It's the last thing in the world that I want to do, neglect my husband, but under the circumstances I don't see how I can do anything else. I understand perfectly, and seem satisfied, but my friend is emphatic, and I know that I'll lose my husband's interest, if not his love, if I can't manage somehow to go around with him."

I think the friend in the case is inclined to make a mountain out of a molehill, and that the wife was not much to worry about, right now, at least.

The woman who is fundamentally maternal who has the capacity for unselfish service and devotion, includes her husband in this love as well as her children. And men, being much at heart grown up boys, enjoy this mothering.

The average young wife and mother does her own work, and needs no fortunate excuse to have relatives who relish her on occasions of her care of the child or children; she is immensely much tied at home. Her world, for the time being, is her home, and it is in her power to continue to warm and to please her husband at home, even if she cannot sit beside him at the theater, or dance with him in a cabaret, or indulge in many of their old time frivolities.

Every woman plays three parts in the life of her husband, if she is a really successful wife. She plays the part of mother, of wife, and of sweet heart. And these are all roles she can play to great advantage within the four walls of her little home.

The normal man wants children as much as the woman does, sometimes he wants them more. He is as proud of them as the woman, and as interested in their welfare. He is also proud of her maternal side, and isn't likely to be jealous of it as long as she divides her favors, and includes him within the radius of her devotion.

The wife with small children to look after, who is only tied at home, is an example of restraining her husband's love, since this can't "step out" in the evenings as she once did. She will hold it so long as she plays her triple role honorably and with her whole heart—the triple role of wife, mother, and sweetheart to the man she has married.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MARY R.: DECOMPOSED MATERIAL often collects on the root of the tongue, and unless the proper means are used to eliminate it by careful cleaning with a toothbrush, foul breath will result. It is believed by some authorities that this is more often the cause of foul breath than stomach disturbances. In doing so, be careful not to hit the roof of the mouth, thus gagging is avoided.

MARY R.: SAGE TEA IS ENTIRELY harmless. It is prepared as any drinking tea. After shampooing the hair, rinse it in water to which the tea has been added. I shall be glad to send you booklet on care of the hair, if you will send a stamped, addressed envelope for it.

Cook all together and if it seems too dry, add a little water. Sprinkle the whole with two tablespoons, put into a pan and bake for twenty minutes.

Dressing like this is good of itself as a sort of meat, or fish is attractive and palatable when added, without the slight wateriness.

FRENCH KIDS ARE GUESTS AS SOX TOPPLE GIANTS

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) Copyright: 1924 by The Chicago Tribune. PARIS, Nov. 13.—About 400 French boys, ranging in age from 8 to 14, as guests of John McGraw and Charles Comiskey, today watched the Chicago White Sox hose out the Giants, 8 to 7, in a game of the American national pastime upon the soft turf of Columbus stadium.

"It is a good game, but it will never take in France because it is too expensive," was the verdict of those interested French youths, who were taken somewhat aback by the elaborate equipment necessary to play this game, while football requires only a pigskin and a vacant lot.

French Makes Hit.

Art Nehf made a big hit with the kids when he invited the kid guests onto the field, allowing them to inspect the masks, chest protectors, bats, gloves, and balls, and they were soon tossing and catching balls with some dexterity, although some who received visitors on unexpected parts of their anatomy afterward expressed surprise at the great hardness of the ball.

The boys at once demanded to know the price of an article of paraphernalia and at once began to doubt when they learned that a ball cost 30 francs ($1.50), a bat from $10 to 40 francs ($1 to $2), and a glove from 40 to 100 francs ($2 to $5).

"I am afraid it is a game for the rich," commented one of the kids. "In America the boys are more fortunate than we are. We will have to stick to football."

Kids Pick Up Game.

The boys seemed to pick up the game's elements readily, receiving a big kick from the heavy scoring, especially when Moell drove a long one into the center field stands which would have been good for a home except for the Colonels' rules, which limited drives to two bases.

The plays were explained by megaphone, in French, and the crowds seemed to understand the game better than in previous contests.

This is the third and last game of the series. The teams will leave for home Saturday night. PENN TO MEET MAROONS AND ILLINI IN 1925

Contracts Call for Home and Home Games.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Pennsylvania's football team next year will play the University of Illinois and the University of Chicago at Franklin Field under a home and home arrangement. In addition to these inter-sectional contests, the Red and Blue eleven will journey to Providence to play Brown next fall, the game marking the dedication of the new stadium recently erected for Brownian sports.

Chicago is the first of the invading western teams to play here, the game slated for Oct. 24. One week later Illinois, prospective western conference champions for 1924, with the sensational Red Grange, accounted one of the greatest half backs of all time, in the roster, will invade Franklin field for a contest.

Penn comes here in 1927.

Under the home and home arrangement which has been made, the return game with Illinois will be the first. Chicago will not be played at home in 1924, as the policy adopted by the athletic authorities is for only one away game from home a season for the Quaker eleven.

But in 1927 Penn again will mount to Chicago, where Stagg's minnows will be met. Then, in 1927, Brown will play its home and home obligation by coming to Franklin Field for a gridiron duel with Penn.

NEWS SURPRISES FANS

News of the scheduling of University of Chicago and University of Illinois football teams for home and home games came as a surprise to local fans. While it was known that eastern schools had been dickering with both the Maroons and Illini for games, most of the offers had been known to be for single games and not a home and home arrangement.

Coach A. A. Stagg, who also is athletic director of the University of Chicago, could not be reached last night and other authorities at the Midway were in no position to give any information as to the impending games. In fact, most of the Midway officials were distinctly surprised, but would neither affirm nor deny that the games had been arranged.

Zuppke Gives Hint.

Even the Princeton-Chicago games and this year's contest between Chicago and Brown, the Maroons have been prominently mentioned in the international grid game market. Since the Chicago eleven held their to a 11 to 11 deadlock last Saturday, the Maroons have gone up to the stands and close followers of football at the Midway school news of the Penn game, while a surprise, was joyfully received.

On the Illinois side, Coach Bob Zuppke, who stopped off in Chicago yesterday while on his way to Minneapolis, where the Illini engage University of Minnesota in Big Ten struggle on Saturday, indicated that a game between Illinois and an eastern team was almost a sure thing. However, Zuppke declared he was in no position to give out positive information.

Grange Is Drawing Card.

Zuppke would not mention any eastern eleven, although he confirmed the report that several had been bidding for games with the downstate school. Most of the bids, however, were for single games, and neither Zuppke nor George Huff, athletic director at Illinois, would agree to such an arrangement. He wanted home and home games, and Huff's offer was made for such a contract.

Among the teams mentioned for games with the Illini were Dartmouth and Harvard. Dartmouth seemed especially favored, as Director Huff is an alumnus of that school and there has been talk of an Illinois-Dartmouth game in other years. The big attraction for the eastern schools to schedule a game with the Illini is Harold "Red" Grange, who will be back on the downstate gridiron next year.

IT'S NEWS TO HARVARD

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 12.—Fred H. Moore, graduate manager of Harvard athletics, said tonight that he knew nothing of reported negotiations by Illinois and Harvard alumni for a football game in the fall of 1925.

IOWA AND AMES MAY PLAY AGAIN

Amer. Ia., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa and Iowa State college football teams may meet in 1925. This was disclosed today when athletic officials here said they were willing to meet the Hawkeyes again, any place, under any reasonable arrangement.

Up until 1921 the Ames-Iowa game was the big athletic event of the year, but differences between C. W. Maynor and Howard Jones, athletic directors of the two schools, are said to be responsible for the breakup of relations. Now both these men have left Iowa and many believe that a game can be arranged for next fall.

May Help Cornhuskers.

The average football fan is aware of what may happen under adverse conditions. The open game has been discredited in less than 50 percent and

Minnesota and Nebraska, given good chances to defeat their opponents.

Gophers and Cornhuskers employ a straight line attack, the best offense

under adverse conditions.

It's a well known fact Miller, Crowley, Layden and Stuehrheuer, the four horsemen of Notre Dame, are much better on a fast field.

The same is true of Grange of Illinois, but chances are the heavy going will not hinder him as much as the Notre Dame football carriers. The condition will also hinder the running of the teams in Illinois and neither Layden of Notre Dame nor Britton of Illinois can be expected to boot the oval with the accuracy which has featured their kick-satisfactory way of playing a game of football and it is hoped the necessary precautions have been taken of covering the fields. However, this will be seen.

WEINERT'S FISTS BRING MR. FIRPO BACK TO EARTH

CLOCKS FAVOR WEINERT

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 12.—Timekeepers cut off ten seconds in two of the twelve rounds fought by Luis Firpo and Charlie Weinert here last night. J. Platt Adams, chief boxing inspector of New Jersey, declared today. "I know positively they were ten seconds short." Adams said, "as I held a stop watch and timed them."

Adams told newspaper men that the rounds were cut to favor Weinert, who in one of the rounds was in a dangerously open position on the ropes.

New York, Nov. 12.—The pugilistic star of Luis Angel Firpo appears to be settling with the sort of meteoric rapidity which marked its rise. On top of his decisive defeat in September at the hands of Harry Wills, the decisive win over Firpo last night at Newark by Charlie Weinert has put the famous Argentine's fist stock at the lowest ebb it has been since he made his sensational debut here. (TRIBUNE Photo.) 1922.

Critics gave credit to Weinert for the skill with which he completely outboxed and outgutted his giant opponent, but were unanimous in declaring that Firpo was not the same fighter whose terrific right blazed a path through heavyweight ranks in 1923 and who had the title within his grasp when he knocked Jim Dempsey, the champion, out of the ring at the Polo grounds.

Firpo Not in Condition.

A variety of factors figure in the downfall of the erstwhile Argentine idol, according to observers, but chief among them are his failure to condition himself properly or to train himself in the art of a competent boxer. Mental worries, brought on by harassing legal difficulties, were blamed for Firpo's showing against Wills, but he had no excuse of this sort last night.

Firpo's temperament, most critics aver, has mitigated against his continued success in the ring. Confident of his own strength and ability and convinced that he was the most competent guide of his ring career, the big South American has steadfastly refused to put himself under more experienced hands.

For a time he submitted to the training methods of Jimmy De Forest, veteran ring mentor, who guided Firpo through his first few successes, but De Forest's procedure eventually proved irksome to the "Wild Bull" and he severed their relations shortly before his battle with Jess Willard in July, 1923.

Plans Are Uncertain.

As a result of his decision to accepting North American conditions, Firpo is faced with having made little significant advancement in the two and a half years he has appeared here. Short of his powerful right in his fights with both Wills and Weinert, his performances have been only slightly less crude than when he waged his first battles in this country.

Firpo's future plans are uncertain. He has several more fights in prospect in the metropolitan district and elsewhere during the winter.
